’59 CHIMES

[illegible]
BEREA, KENTUCKY

BEREA COLLEGE • Berea, Kentucky

In the years we have spent here at Berea, we have met many people, learned many things, acquired and relinquished ideals and hopes. These years have given us maturity, understanding, and memories—memories of friends, classes, parties, professors, and other things too numerous to list.

We have watched the sun rising between two hollows of the mountains and in watching we have been awed by this wonder. We have climbed the Pinnacles and surveyed the glory of the mountains. We have sloshed through messy rain and a maze of black umbrellas. We have taken part in countless hours of dormitory bull-sessions. We have felt the thrilling experience of mastering a question, or a test, or an entire book or class. We have been silenced by the chimes, as the sounds drift across the campus, from Knapp Hall to Cumberland Hall. We have been filled with a renewed experience of that which is holy at the Sunday night chapels. We have been busy, exhausted, overjoyed, sad, and all of these have been rewarding.

As the years pass, many of these experiences will fade. As a barrier against entire obliteration we—the class of 1959—have gathered as many memories as we could and have put them into this book, the '59 Chimes.

—THE EDITOR

Dedication

With humbleness and respect, and yet with a certain pride, the class of '59 dedicates its Chimes to Charles Noble Shutt.

164549

Despite his duties as the Director of Guidance, Charles Shutt finds time to be with his family. Here he is shown with his wife, Dr. Jane Shutt, whom he married in 1945, and his two children, Constance Ellen, age four, and Christopher Clark, age three.

When asked about a "philosophy of life," Dean Shutt said, "It seems to me that success in life depends on how the individual plans to face up to his responsibilities. It is not just an accident or on the spur of the moment that a person carries out his responsibilities, but how he plans to meet those responsibilities. I think of a person's duties as three:

"One is to do the best he can in the job he holds; second, to be of greatest possible help to people whom he meets; and third, which I think is the most important of all and can't be separated from the other two, to do the best to represent the spirit of Christ in every way."

We feel that Charles Shutt, during his stay at Berea since 1915, has carried out his responsibilities. As a teacher of Latin in the Academy, as a teacher of English and Bible, as the Dean of the Academy, as the Dean of the Lower Division (which consisted of the last two years of high school and the first two years of college), and as the Director of Guidance, Dean Shutt has given us many reasons to admire and respect him. Since our first week on Berea's campus, when we heard the famous "green-tie" story, we have been impressed by his willingness to help.

In reply to our question as to what had kept him at Berea for forty-four years, Dean Shutt answered, "Whenever I thought of the work at Berea and the life here—the association with the students, the teachers, and the townspeople—well, I have never found any place that could measure up to it."

For this, we, the students, thank you, Dean Shutt. We hope that you will always feel that you have gained as much from knowing us as we certainly have gained by knowing you.

The School of Nursing

Martha Wylie, M.S.
Assistant Professor of Nursing, College A.B., Indiana, 1921; G.N. Ind. Univ. Training School for Nurses, 1924; M.S., Indiana, 1954; Berea, 1943-47; 1957.

Leta Sanders
B.S. Teachers College, Columbia Univ.; M.A., 1958, Columbia Univ.; Berea 1958—

The four year nursing curriculum is based on the recommendations of the National League for Nursing and has been initially approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing Education and Nurse Registration. Final approval is not given until the first class has been graduated. This school year saw the last graduation class under the three-year program.

In addition to the objectives shared by all Berea College Departments, the Department of Nursing is striving to; provide a four-year college education for students entering upon careers in nursing, thus giving them an educational experience comparable to those available in other undergraduate professional programs; prepare well-selected students for giving effective nursing care and for filling first-level positions in nursing fields; develop a self-directing, service-motivated nurse, conscious of the high calling of her profession and of her responsibilities and rewards in it; to give experience in public health nursing in rural areas, to acquaint students with the needs and problems of those areas, and to challenge them with the opportunity for service in such areas.

Dean Julia Allen

Miss Allen, who is retiring this year from her office as Dean of Women, has worked with Bereans since 1935 when she was the assistant to the Dean of Women.

Dean Allen once remarked that she always tried to be first a person, then an administrator. We feel that she has amply succeeded in this, and we can only try to thank her for all she has given us—as a person and as an administrator.

Administration and Faculty

"THE YEARS AHEAD no one can number. The College itself must have concerns; it must have a spirit and life of its own. The College is not just a repository of learning with students and teachers poking about among dusty volumes. In Berea College I believe that we must have an attitude of free inquiry and we must have an environment which will permit us to hear the trumpet calls of love, justice, courage, self-mastery, mercy, liberty."

Knapp Hall

Knapp Hall, the teacher training school for Elementary Education majors, is operated by Berea College as part of its student program. Students in this grammar and junior high school come come from faculty homes and those of local residents. They receive an education in the 3 R's through the use of modern materials and progressive methods.

The first eight grades of school are under the direction of Miss Nell Gill, Mr. Carl Ford, Mrs. Ora Gunkler, Miss Catherine Kelly, and Miss Mildred Miller. Mrs. Isdale teaches music and Mr. Edmundson provides art instruction for the well-rounded teaching program at Knapp Hall. Elementary Education majors, under the direction of this qualified staff, receive a vital part of their college training in student teaching.

KIAC

Tourney

In the 1959 KIAC Basketball Tournament, held at Berea, was played some of the most exciting basketball ever seen on this campus. Fired-up by a remark by Transylvania that this game would be a "light scrimmage," the Mountaineers upset the Lexington team, 72-53.

Then came Georgetown. The Mountaineers were defeated by the score of 73-60, and Georgetown went on to win the tournament by defeating Pikeville.

Finland's National Gymnastic Teams

The New Rhythmic Gymnastics integrate the natural movements of play, the rhythmic qualities of the dance, and physical qualities of strength and coordination with an aesthetic grace. All of these were exhibited by the Finns as a part of the William J. Hutchins Lectureship.

Secondary Student Teaching

Secondary student teachers do their on-campus teaching in the Foundation School and Berea High School. Off-campus student teaching is done in Rockcastle, Lincoln, and Pulaski Counties, and in the towns of Lexington and Stanford. Approximately 35 supervising teachers work with our students in the off-campus locations.

Students in Secondary Education hold their share of positions of leadership and honor while on the campus and upon graduation they assume roles of importance in their chosen fields. All who have elected to attend Graduate School have made excellent records.

More and more superintendents of schools are saying, "Send us more Berea graduates." And so it is that this year the largest class of student teachers at Berea College is preparing to uphold the tradition.

When we hopefully hammered out our first silver dogwood pin a quarter of a century ago, we sorely needed friends with a true appreciation of our hand-made jewelry.

During these twenty-five years we have been fortunate in finding many, but none have ever surpassed the people at Berea. Possibly it is because of the college's own long tradition of discovering and encouraging only the best and most representative handicrafts of the Southern Highlands. Whatever the reason, Berea has been outstandingly good to us. All the folks at the Stuart Nye Shop are warmly grateful.

COVER DESIGN: Dolly Dingus.

PICTURE CREDITS: All of the organizations and most of the activities' pictures were shot and developed by the Chimes staff photographers, Sam Hawkins, Ron Reed, and Dave Alexander. The faculty pictures, the class pictures for the College, and the Foundation School junior and senior class pictures were taken by Mattson Studio, Berea, Kentucky.

We are grateful to Tom Snapp and his Pinnacle staff for their photographs. And we wish to thank Mr. Bob Connor for his pictures. Cheers also to Dean Roy Walters for his cooperation, as well as the Foundation School pictures.

And we give our heartiest thanks to everyone who lent a helping hand.

PRODUCTION ADVISOR: Mr. Bob Walter, S. B. Newman Printing Company, Knoxville, Tennessee.
